The inaugural function of the training started at 9.30 A.M. After the formal Prayer song, Dr.M.Vasan, Assistant Professor of Commerce, gave the welcome address. Major.Dr.R.Venkatachalam, Principal of the college gave inaugural address and well received all the students and participants from other institutions and forums, very next Prof.N.Rajendran, Dean of Arts and Commerce gave felicitation address.

Dr.N.Ebenezer Joseph, Professor, School of Law, Vellore Institute of Technology (VIT), Chennai, delivered his technical session address. It was wonderful definitions of what are the rights? What are the human rights? The scopes of human rights and freedom of individuals and all the stuff he simply defined for the better understanding of student community.

The second session started after tea break, Dr.S.M.Balakrishnan, Principal, Government Law College, Namakkal, carried the session on Human Right Institutions in India. It was useful; many students interacted with the speaker. He explained the functions of State Human Rights Commission and National Human Rights Commission and how do NGOs observe the violation of human rights within the state and across the nation.

Third session started after lunch. Dr.K.Latha, Principal of Government Law College, Thirunelveli, delivered her session on Rights of Women and Children. She differentiated the nuances of human rights, women rights and children right and what are the places, where the rights of women and children violated in the name of education, culture, social values. What are the measures have been taken and all the stuff. She discussed was an eye opener for the students and staff especially women.

Fourth session started after tea break. Dr.N.Ramapiran Ranjith Singh, Professor, Government Law College, Thirunelveli, took this session on the rights of other vulnerable groups especially SC/ST and economically downtrodden. He gave an elaborate note on vulnerable groups in the form of minority. Who are vulnerable and how they are used and misused, how they are easily prone to be victimized, what are the rights of them, education and employment of vulnerable and all the participants eagerly interacted with full of matter and full of messages.

In valedictory session Dr.N.S.Nagarethinam, Dean of Science, delivered his valedictory speech and thanked the guests, respected them with shawls and Memento. All the participants received their Training Participation Certificates.

Dr.P.Jegan, Training Convener proposed vote of thanks. He specially thanked the National Human Rights Commission for funding this event. Participants took Human Rights Pledge. The program successfully ends with National anthem.
